Kandi Wiley

MADD

Kandi spoke to us about her experience volunteering with Mothers Against Drunk Driving. Her passion stems from an unfortunate, but avoidable, accident in which her daughter, Jana Kay, lost her life. Jana's car was struck by a drunk driver who died in the accident. Jana fought for her life in the hospital, eventually succumbing to her injuries. In her death, she was able to continue serving others via organ donations.

It was a gut-wrenching story, but we appreciate Kandi sharing with us and encouraging us to make wise decisions when impaired.

According to early tradition, Sanit Valentine restored sight to the blind daughter of his jailer, having been imprisoned for ministering to Christians persecuted under the Roman Empire in the third century. He allegedly wrote her a farewell letter prior to his execution which his signed "Your Valentine."
