He was not hung ... he was shot !!!

Our program today was Michael Donahue, chair of the art department at Temple College. Mike spoke to us about his vast knowledge of George Armstrong Custer. A United States Army officer, Custer was a cavalry commander during the Civil War and later during the American Indian Wars. Donahue explained that one of Custer's roles in the Civil War was as an early day 'astronaut' when he was a member of one of the Union Army's observation balloons. Little did Neil Armstrong know, he was not the first Armstrong that was an astronaut. The picture of Custer that Donahue painted was very different from the one where he is a screw-up and graduated last in his class at West Point. You can read more on the fearless accounts of Custer on the battlefield in Donahue's book, Where the Rivers Ran Red.

Jake was finally at club to get his Key award, thankfully it was not an attendance award

Lions Give $1,500 to the Sherriff's Foundation

A Key Player Get's a Key Award also !!!

Academy Leo Club Gives Back

The Academy High School Leos made a donation of $400.00! These motivated teens did bake sales and other fundraisers to raise money to help other children. After their donation, they took a tour of the hospital to see the impact they are making. Last year, the Leo club also made a generous contribution to McLane Children's. Just wait to see what amazing things this group will do in the future!
