Texas Ramp Project

John Laine

I was so busy voting for the peace poster contest and handing out Reverse Raffle tickets, I forgot to take pictures of John Laine. If you were there, you know what he looks like. Just imagine a guy standing at a podium in front of a bunch of old guys with white hair. He's talking into a microphone and we're all listening.

Now imagine a picture of that here:

Glad you all have your imaginations.

We appreciate John Rude bringing John Laine to talk to us about the terrific work the Texas Ramp Project is doing for those in need. He was appreciative of our contribution to their good work.

Medicare never covers the cost of home modifications, such as ramps or widening of doors or hallways. Even a doctor's note is not enough to get coverage under the durable medical equipment benefit. The deductibility of such modifications on your income tax return, however, is another matter. Seek trusted, competent advisors. In dealing with the IRS, I trust Proverbs 24:6.
