TODAY'S PROGRAM:

DeDe Griffith Workforce Development

November 10, 2021

Vice President of Workforce Development for Temple College, Griffith focuses on expanding the College's workforce development programs, growing business and industry partnerships, and developing short-term workforce training and technical degree programs. A top priority has been to be to create new industrial and manufacturing programs. Griffith oversees the college's Business and Continuing Education Division, the Engineering Technology program and the Office of Institutional Effectiveness, Research and Planning.

Prior to joining Temple College this past July, Griffith served as Vice Chancellor of Academic and Student Affairs at Northwest Louisiana Technical Community College. She joined NLTCC in 2017 after spending 20 years as an administrator and faculty member at Lee College in Baytown.

Griffith earned an Associate of Science and Technology degree in Drafting Technology from Lee College and owned her own drafting business for 10 years. She later returned to Lee College to teach computer-aided drafting. She served as Chair of the college's Computer Aided Drafting and Design and Engineering Technology Division from 2009 to 2012 before being named Director of Student Success and Access in 2012 and Vice President of Instruction in 2016.
